

Terri-Anne Strongarm

At the tender age of 21, Terri-Anne is already a well-established country music entertainer. The "little girl with the big voice" has been singing since the age of four – and performing on stage for nearly as long, traveling throughout Saskatchewan, Ontario, Manitoba, and into the U.S.A. Terri-Anne has a fondness for classic country, having grown up learning to play and sing beside her fiddle-playing father. She loves belting out standards such as "Stand By Your Man", as much as a current Martina McBride or Gretchen Wilson hit. Hailing from Saskatchewan's Star Blanket Cree Nation, Terri-Anne has already garnered a substantial list of accomplishments including winning the 2008 Big Country Talent Show (CKRM Regina) and 2003 GX94 Yorkton Star Search, multiple nominations for Aboriginal Artist of the Year at the Saskatchewan Country Music Awards, and a Saskatchewan First Nations Circle of Honour award as Youth Role Model – Music (2008) Recently won the (2009) Dakota Dunes Idol in Saskatoon, SK. Has opened for artists including Charlie Major, Kalan Porter, Shane Yellowbird, Crystal Shawanda, the Road Hammers , and most recently Doug Kershaw. She also shared the stage with Donny Parenteau, Andrea Menard, and Voices of the North showcase. She has made appearances on such stages as the Craven Country Jamboree, Casino Regina and Casino Moose Jaw, Canada Summer Games and many more. She has just released a single titled "Cowboys R Cool".
